NATIONS HARD PRESSED

France Is Embarrassed by Moroccan War, Italy by Internal Troubles

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1925 by Post Pub. Co.

Washington, D. C.—The painful truth is beginning to dawn on American officials that the various European countries which owe the United States large sums on war accounts do not intend immediately, at least, to begin to fund their indebtedness.

Notwithstanding all the talk of pressure to payment, and interference with loans made by private bankers there has been no tangible step taken that means money.

The latest development—the pronouncement by the Italian finance minister that Italy could not consider adding to her budget by funding the war debt—is somewhat of a disappointment here in view of the optimistic inferences that were drawn from the visit of the Italian ambassador to Secretary Mellon recently.

Coincident with this visit was the announcement that private bankers in America had made a large extension of credit to the Italians indicating clearly that the economic boycott supposed to have been planned by the American government is not in operation.

NOTHING DEFINITE

The French finance minister has said he intends to do all he can to arrange a payment with America but nothing definite has come as yet looking toward a satisfactory plan of adjustment. Meanwhile the smaller countries of Europe are unable to make much progress, and Roumania, for instance, is reported to be seeking a $100,000,000 loan.

The situation here is further clouded by the fact that it is impossible to tell how much of the discussion about prodding Europe is really concerned in by the American government and how much is being continued to bolster up the impression that the United States is not neglecting its tasks.

Senator Borah of Idaho has raised the question of American insistence on payment and it is believed in some quarters that the executive branch of the government has never had any illusions about prompt payment or arrangements for payment, but has permitted what efforts it has made to be given publicity so as to demonstrate clearly that the responsibility for non-payment is not any negligence in Washington nor indifference

in Europe, but an economic situation so disturbed that more patience will be shown by the American people.

OTHER TROUBLES

France lately has had more drains

on her treasury due to the Moroccan war, Italy has an internal situation that is none too good, and all these factors are being mentioned to America in private diplomatic conversations as reasons for postponing serious discussion of funding arrangements until the horizon clears.

The American tax program for next year, therefore, can hardly be affected by any funding of war debts and the interest charges on the huge loans made to allied governments with money borrowed by Liberty loans from the American people will continue to be paid through income taxes.

BRITAIN UPHOLDS RHINE PACT

U. S. BALLOON
MAYBE SECOND
IN CUP RACE

By Associated Press

Brussels—One of the two American balloons entered in the Gordon Bennet cup race, the S-14, piloted by Lieutenant F. Flood and McCormick, landed safely at 3:30 Monday morning near Troport, France 17 miles from Dieppe.

It appears to be in second place, having traveled 250 kilometers.

A message was received here by carrier pigeon from Ernest Demuyter indicating that he is in difficulties.

Demuyter winner of the original Gordon Bennett balloon race trophy, is in the Belgians.

The Spanish Balloon Hespero Sus-anas fell in the North Sea. Pilot De-

LaRocha and Senor-Lobez, a passenger, were rescued by a passing trawler. The balloon was lost.

The British balloon Elsie, particularly in the Gordon Bennett cup race, was destroyed in landing Monday

when its guide rope caught on a moving freight train crashing the balloon on the tracks. The pilot Lieut. Col.

Johnson, was unhurt, but Capt. Don-gall, a passenger, was slightly injured.

THINK FLUNKING

STUDENT KILLED

FARM PROFESSOR

Believe Visitor Was Surprised

in Act of Looking for Examination Papers

Baton Rouge, La.—With members of the student body under close surveillance, police Monday renewed search for the slayer of Prof. Oscar

B. Turner, instructor in agronomy at Louisiana State university, who died from numerous gashes on the head, face and throat evidently inflicted with a heavy bloodstained fire ax.

The theory is that the crime was committed by a student who may possibly have been discovered by Prof. Turner rifleing a desk from which certain examination papers, which were to have been used by the agronomy class

Monday, were missing.

Return of the examination papers

under circumstances almost as mysterious as those surrounding the crime, have inclined authorities to conclude that the slayer was one of the student body.

The victim's watch and pocketbook were undisturbed. The missing papers were restored to Prof. Turner's desk after the dying man was found by R. G. Markham, senior agriculture student who had been serving as an assistant to the agronomy teacher, a time when the agronomy hall was surrounded by detectives and crowds of the curious.

Hunt Lad Afloat On Lake

Huron Since Sunday Noon

By Associated Press

Porthurn, Mich.—Somewhere on

Lake Huron, James McCoy, 12, Harbor Beach, has been drifting since early Sunday afternoon when he was put into a life preserver and thrown from a sinking rowboat by his father,

John McCoy. The boy had not been found up until 10 a. m. Monday.

John McCoy and two other children were rescued by the Harbor Beach coast guard but "Jimmie" had not drifted ashore as his father expected.

The family had come to the lake shore for the day and Jimmie's new rowboat which he purchased with money saved throughout the winter was being given its maiden run on a fishing expedition.

Two miles from shore the craft began to fill with water and the father, rowing rapidly to return to shore, broke both oars. Determined to save the eldest son at least, McCoy found a life preserver around him and threw him overboard, expecting he would drift ashore. Two younger children waited in the slowly sinking boat for the help they expected their brother to bring. Meanwhile persons on the shore had noted the plight of the fisher and the coast guard sent out a rescue craft. It had returned to the station before it was discovered that Jimmie had not drifted ashore.

DRIVER ESCAPES AFTER HITTING BRIDGE TENDER

Albert Peotter Is Hurt After Barge Bumps John-st Bridge and Disables It

Tieup of traffic on John-st bridge Saturday night when an unwieldy barge of Cook & Brown Lime Co. bumped into the structure was responsible for injuries to Albert Peotter, bridge tender. He was struck by an automobile whose driver did not stop and his right side was bruised. He was able to be about his duties, however, but is limping and in some pain.

Mr. Peotter took down the license number of the offending car and reported the matter to the police. The license was issued to Albert Heigson, rural route 2, Sparta, according to the state records. An effort will be made to get in touch with the man to learn why he did not stop.

The barge which a Cook and Brown company tug was conveying upriver was of an extra large size and a difficult one for the tug to handle. It had to be taken through the locks separately from the tugboat.

Mr. Peotter opened the bridge for the boat to pass through. The barge struck the bridge and swung it too far on the turntable so the co's could not engage and the tender was unable to close it. Street department employees were called and used block and tackle and automobiles to swing the drawbridge far enough to engage the co's again.

Traffic had accumulated by this time and the driver who struck Mr. Peotter was in such a hurry that he did not wait for the safety gates to be opened. He struck the gates and the tender and then hurried on.

Protection piers of the bridge also were broken off by the big barge, R. M. Connelly, city engineer, said. He also was informed that the boat bumped every bridge on the trip but had not made an investigation to see what damage had been done.

TWO CARS ARE STOLEN FROM VALLEY CITIES

Reward of $25 is offered for recovery of the other car, a Ford coupe, #1924 model, stolen Friday evening from Oak-kosh. The license number is B-38,038.

Results in Doubt Until Workers Have Made Reports to Headquarters Here

Appleton's annual campaign for support of the boy scouts closed Saturday and the headquarters office of Valley council, Boy Scouts of America was busy Monday morning checking up the results.

Twelve of the workers had turned in their reports. The others were expected to hand in their cards and money before the day was over. No figures were available as to the amount raised but there were indications that the giving was fairly liberal among those who were solicited.

The campaign was hampered somewhat by the absence of numbers of persons from the city but these probably will be visited later.

SAVES TWO MEN BUT BUMPS RAIL

Driver Guides Car Onto Sidewalk at Hotel—Collar Automobile Wrecked

An automobile and a railing at Hotel Northern were damaged by Make Doherty, Menasha, at 8:45 Monday morning when he drove over the sidewalk to prevent two men from being struck. Another accident happened at 12:30 Monday morning when the automobile of George W. Collar, Hortonville, overturned on highway 15 beyond Little Chute.

Doherty turned east on W. Washington-st. from N. Appleton-st. and swung his car suddenly to the left when he saw M. Stenger and A. B. Schibbe, two pedestrians, in his path. His car, a sedan, crashed into the railing protecting the basement stairway of the hotel, breaking it part way off. He also broke off a "No parking" sign. The bumper on his machine and a fender were bent. None was injured.

Mr. Collar was driving toward Kaukauna in his small touring car, accompanied by Emmett Collar, also of Hortonville. The car plunged over a culvert into the ditch. The occupants were unhurt and continued their journey to Kaukauna in another machine.

Kurt Radtke of Wausau, was in Appleton on Sunday.

WANT TO KEEP CARNIVAL AWAY FROM HOSPITAL

Council Instructs Attorneys to Do What They Can to Drive Off Noisemakers

Called into special session by Mayor John Goodland Jr., Saturday afternoon, the common council Saturday night voted to have Attorneys Mark Catlin and Homer Benton act to prevent carnivals from showing in the vicinity of St. Elizabeth hospital, and to appoint a committee of three aldermen and three physicians to establish a quiet zone in the vicinity of the hospital.

Aldermen Mark Catlin, Mike Steinhauer and Charles Fose were named on the committee to act with the three physicians, who have not yet been appointed. This action was taken with special reference to the carnival company advertised to appear on the lot at the corner of S. Oneida and Calumet-sts this week.

Complaints have been made by hospital authorities and by doctors that the carnival near the hospital is an annoyance to the patients and it is said the hospital may seek an injunction restraining the company from carrying on its shows on the ground that they are a nuisance.

The mayor also suggested conference with the chairman of the town of Harrison seeking cooperation in keeping similar companies from the vicinity of the hospital. A committee probably will be appointed with this end in view.

It is said hospital authorities have asked town of Harrison officers to refuse to grant a permit to the carnival company to show in the town but the officers refused.

The accident occurred at 12:30 Monday afternoon.

DENY ELECTION OF COLLEGE HEAD

Rumors Concerning Visit Here of Prof. Wriston Said to Have No Basis

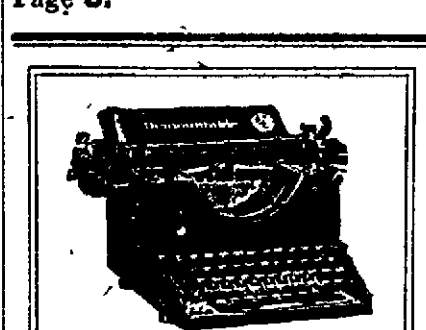

Rumors that Prof. Henry M. Wriston of Middletown, Conn., had been selected as president of Lawrence college were denied Monday by the committee which has this task in hand. No decision whatever has been reached, college authorities said, and the committee will continue its negotiations for a suitable man.

The committee and the trustees are taking plenty of time to choose the successor to the late Dr. Samuel Plantz.

Prof. Wriston came here to attend the commencement exercises and it was said that his visit here had some relation to the presidency of the college. He is professor of American history and international relations at Wesleyan college, Middletown, Conn.

The professor had an idea that there was little in Wisconsin north of Milwaukee and was amazed on his visit to Appleton to find that it was part of a community of the Fox river valley chain of cities. He believed this part of the state was sparsely settled and he was conveyed as far north as Green Bay to show him what the locality was like.

WAUPACA MAYOR WOULD DEBATE LIGHTING FIGHT

Pronto Challenges Editor of Weekly to Prove His Attack Was Warranted

Waupaca—Mayor Felix Pronto of Waupaca, has challenged Robert Wright, editor of a local weekly paper, to debate the electric lighting situation which was the subject of an editorial in the last issue of Mr. Wright's paper.

The article which aroused the fire of the mayor criticized him for not permitting Waupaca Service company to use the generator in the city pumping station to furnish current on a recent evening when the electric plant was disabled and the city was left in darkness.

It was said in the editorial that the city executive should have done more than he did to provide the city with light on an evening when all the stores were open for business, the city was crowded and there were 800 persons at Palace theater attending graduation exercises of Waupaca rural schools.

James Richardson, president and manager of the electric company, in Madison and William Rasmussen, chief electrician, knew that four or five hours would be required to make repairs. He had no authority, however, to ask the city to use its generators. Considerable financial loss was suffered by the merchants, the editorial said, and hundreds of farmers who came to town that evening to trade were inconvenienced.

WOULD'NT HELP MUCH

Mayor Pronto declares that the city generating plant, which is connected with the Waupaca Service company's plant under a previous contract for providing auxiliary power, could do little more than add the filament of the light bulbs of the entire city. The electric company would have to assist with its generators in providing sufficient current. It was not the power source that was disabled, the mayor explains, but the generating apparatus itself. The executive also says he has no power to let the light company have any current, since the council passed a resolution this spring forbidding the practice of letting the city's power be used for anything but the city's own needs.

It is predicted that if the mayor's challenge is accepted by Mr. Wright, standing room in the council chambers will be at a premium.

Clive Olson, while in bathing at the city beach at South Park, gave his friends a scare by nearly drowning in their presence. Young Olson, another boy, was swimming in the water, when Olson was winded. He got up, started to walk away in only three feet of water and suddenly dropped again. Only one other bather of those in the water noticed him. The alarm went out and all hastened over to pull the helpless boy out and take him to the shore. In a short time he was revived with first aid methods by those present.

As a precautionary measure Mayor Pronto has posted notices forbidding the practice of letting dogs in the water at the city bathing beach. This is a matter of health precaution and the owner of any such dog is subject to arrest and fine.

STILL WANT CURFEW

The Law Enforcement league is still making efforts to have a curfew law established and enforced. Many citizens voice disapproval of a thing of this kind in a city the size of Waupaca, declaring there are "too many silly laws."

A member of the class of 1924 in Waupaca high school, C. W. Schroek, has won the physical efficiency contest at the University of Wisconsin this year with an average of better than 99 per cent.

Judge Park was prepared to hear arguments for bail by A. D. Smith, attorney for Arthur LaValley, who was sentenced to ten years at Waupun for an assault upon a young girl. The attorney has filed an appeal with the supreme court and is now awaiting a hearing. In the meantime his client, LaValley, wants liberty on bail.

Old Order Is Changed As Women Start Collecting

BY GEORGE BRITT

New York — The old legend that "the woman pays" probably is true enough, but it seems that often she also plays and the cashier presents the check to her man.

Fawn Gray, who flashed into the spotlight of attention when Broadway discovered her dancing with Harry Thaw, is the latest apparent exception to the theory.

The little shimmy dancer of the cabarets, an obscure speck in the swarm of women in the metropolis, was transformed into the most sought-after woman in the metropolis. A theatrical producer hurried to offer her a contract at the salary of a railroad president. Her value as a stage attraction was increased tenfold.

Fawn is proceeding to make hay while the sun of prosperity shines. If her name doesn't appear in tail letters over some theater before the summer ends, she will have frittered away a golden opportunity. More association with a celebrity did this for Fawn.

The Prince of Wales probably could do more for an ambitious young actress than any man alive. His is the magic touch, but he has been discreet. His name, however, did serve to get a vaudeville contract for a girl. That, because she had the same name as that of a girl with whom he danced.

In many of those cases where the woman might be supposed to "pay," it was a case of the man lying moldering in his grave while the girl went marching on.

Gaby Deslys is the shining example, upon whom Fawn Gray might pattern her hopes. Gaby had been simply a popular music hall dancer until the young King Manuel of Portugal was attracted to her. His lavish gifts to her set all the world talking.

The famous necklace of pearls, worth a king's ransom, adorned her throat. The people back in Lisbon might complain at the way the royal coffers were being drained, but the people of Paris and London bought tickets to see Gaby.

The more the Portuguese revolution was blamed upon Gaby, the greater her theatrical value. In one of her appearances in New York, she permitted ted in her own play a joking allusion to the king.

The Dolly Sisters didn't fail to capitalize their playmate, King Alfonso of Spain. Two years ago they gave performances at his command, and at Madrid, San Sebastian and Deauville they danced and attended gay parties with him. Both Jenny and Roy Dolly shared his interest, and their drawing power on the stage increased.

The fascination which Germaine Faure was reported to have expressed over the German crown prince certainly added to the glamor of her name.

Peggy Joyce is the easiest of all names to recall in the category of pretty girls for whom a career opened through distinguished association. Peggy was a struggling chorus girl in the Follies. Then followed a succession of marriages to wealth. Her career received the most generous review during the Joyce divorce trial when her husband told of spending $1,393,316 on her in ten months and linked her name with those of dukes and princes. The next year Peggy was a leading lady.

MUST LEARN WHAT TO DO WITH OUR LEISURE HOURS

Phi Beta Kappa Speaker Says Study of Art and Literature Will Make for Serenity

"Standing room only" sign was needed on Saturday when Carl Russell Fish, author of a dozen and more significant books, professor at the University of Wisconsin, and everywhere recognized as one of the greatest living historians, spoke before the Gamma Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at Lawrence college.

His announced theme was Education for Leisure but he said his subject was the Youngest Generation and his address was a searching study of some of the most difficult problems of the present.

He first gave three examples of the way in which leisure comes. The making of a gown used to be an event which took a week and the result was a real creation. Now the girl goes up town and in half an hour selects her dress, orders it shortened three inches and sent home. The old dress was individual, the new one fits a whole sorority.

The old and new ways of making shoes were next compared with the question of how the resulting leisure is spent. And finally the man of affairs with all the modern means of efficiency has won for himself unbridled leisure. He lives no better, however, than did Washington, but more people live well now than ever before.

The causes of the new leisure are: Power, mechanical slaves, and modern means of communication. The results are standardization and a lack of individuality and beauty. Slight irregularity of the handmade product gives a softening effect and evasive charm, he said.

There is now comparatively no pride in complete production among laborers. In the grip of the human mind and will are, however, more important than ever before. We have reached a point where we have decided to produce all we can, and the question is how much shall we produce and what shall we do with the product.

We have more in things and in leisure than any people at any time. A greater change has come over us in fifty years than in all civilization, and it is in this world of leisure and abundance that youth is growing. We find, first, more understanding good youths of both sexes than ever before, we find also, good boys and girls in abundance, who are doing demoralizing things which only bad boys and girls did a few decades ago. And finally, there is to be noted a third class of careless and indifferent. It is to be remembered that the thing that comes out most prominently and there are throughout the world strong home influences still. But home is more and more becoming a voluntary association. Old aunts and uncles can live by themselves and a man can support two homes. Economic pressure has decreased; with reasonable industry anyone succeeds in this country. What will we do with our new liberties? No use to try to return to the old ways as Gandhi is doing, weaving four hours a day. There is need of directing will to guide our new leisure. If but four hours is necessary for labor the great problem is to use aright the 20 hours remaining.

Modern democracy may turn back to the aristocratic leisure of other days and learn from it. All have what was once the possession of the very few. There is need of discipline as never before and as other forces control less, education should control more.

"If we must stop at six hours of work and retire at 6, it is most important to know how to live when you may not work," Mr. Fish said. "Life to be free from boredom should be independent of the need of cooperation. If we turn to the study of the arts and literature, rather than to motors and movies, there may be more chance for growing serenity."

London—To counteract the pilotless airplane, an aerial torpedo has been invented. It is claimed that the torpedo could be made to pursue and destroy the pilotless airplane through wireless control.

TEN PERSONS EXAMINED AT FREE CHEST CLINIC

Ten persons were examined in the chest clinic which was held Saturday afternoon in Appleton Woman's club, with Dr. C. D. Boyd of Riverview sanatorium as examining physician. About 15 persons had to be turned away because of the short available time. Dr. Boyd's investigation lasted from 1:30 Saturday noon until 6:15 that night.

Miss Florence Whipple, city nurse, was in charge of the clinic.

Social Wolves

Wherever young folks congregate, there are social wolves. Read what they did to Helen Saunders, beautiful high school girl.

HELEN never gave her parents a moment's worry — until Zan Thompson began paying her attentions. He flattered her girlish vanity.

Soon she was a different girl. Her face took on a look as though she were hiding something. Disregarding her mother's warning she continued to meet Zan Thompson.

One night Helen failed to return. All night her parents waited. Then at dawn they heard the street door open quietly and a soft step in the hall.

The story of how Helen Saunders fell under the influence of Zan Thompson is told in True Story Magazine for July under the title "Saving Helen."

The following letter from Helen's mother which accompanied the manuscript of "Saving Helen" gives you some idea of the depths of sincerity and earnestness in the hearts of the men and women who bare their souls for the benefit of mankind in True Story Magazine.

Editor of True Story Magazine—"Enclosed you will find a story true in all incidents, changed only in names and location, and the fact that instead of the one girl I have two other children. I have opened my heart to write this, with a hope that my sympathy for other girls who find themselves drawn away from the home circle by the same influences met at school or in social life. Perhaps the result of this story may draw back another who has just placed her feet on the downward path. In any event it goes from me to your office with the great desire back of it to help weak humanity in some way. You may feel that my sympathy is not so sufficiently warm for the erring boy. I feel bitterly sorry for him, and was able to help him in a way that came unexpectedly, but I feel that his term in the Reformatory will be his salvation. Something had to be done to soften the shell of his mature criminal indifference to law and decency. If he can be helped then I am ready to help him, but he can never again touch my child. Trusting you may find the story acceptable, I remain,

Sincerely,

The Crusade of Truth

When Bernard Macfadden began publishing True Story Magazine, it marked the birth of a crusade against evil, sin and vice such as the world had never known.

True Story has as its main purpose to warn against the fatal but often natural human errors that wreck the bodies, blast the souls, and destroy the lives of young and old everywhere. Never in True Story Magazine is sin or shame or wrong of any kind painted in any but its true colors. For more than a year every story appearing between its covers has been subjected to the exacting scrutiny of a supervising Ministerial Board composed of clergymen in active charge of New York Parishes including Episcopal, Methodist, Presbyterian, Catholic and Hebrew creeds. No story that does not teach a powerful moral lesson can possibly escape their vigilance and find a place in True Story Magazine. If you are not now a reader of True Story Magazine procure the July number at any newsstand.

"Suddenly I heard her coming. It was a tiny sound. I crept through the door, and there in the doorway of my room stood my child, her face white—her eyes staring from their sockets."

HEAT EXPANDS BRIDGE
SO IT CAN'T BE OPENED

Kaukauna—The terrific heat of the last few days almost caused havoc with the Lave-st bridge. It was the old story of heat expansion. Although the bridge was closed, the structure expanded to such an extent this year that river and street traffic was tied up while workmen attempted to turn the bridge. By soaking the bridge continually with water the trouble was somewhat remedied.

6 ARE INJURED
IN COLLISION
ON HIGHWAY 26

James A. Frame, Telephone Exchange Manager, Suffers Most from Crash

New London—James A. Frame, newly appointed manager of the Wisconsin Telephone Co. exchange here, was seriously injured here Saturday afternoon, when he became one of the six victims of an automobile accident.

Mr. Frame, accompanied by Julian La Bresh, a member of the local force, was returning from Clintonville at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, in a small Ford truck, which he was driving when they were struck by a Ford coupe, containing four Oshkosh young persons, one-half mile north of this city, on highway 26.

The coupe was rounding a sharp curve at a high rate of speed, and unable to keep to the road, ran into the ditch, turned completely around, and came back on the road and struck the telephone truck.

Although Mr. Frame attempted to swing the truck out of the way, it was impossible, as the coupe moved so swiftly that a collision could not be avoided. Both cars were practically totaled.

Mr. La Bresh, who was the least injured of the six, was thrown about ten feet and knocked unconscious. Upon regaining consciousness, he helped extricate the others from the two cars. The injured persons were taken to local doctors.

The two couples in the Ford coupe were: Miss Emma Schmutzer, owner of the car; Bert Kempinger, driver, and Oliver and Miss Anita Neimemuth, a brother and sister. They were driving from Oshkosh to Mattoon.

It was found that La Bresh suffered a deep laceration of the left arm and a slightly lacerated and bruised face and head. Mr. Frame's left ear was almost entirely severed and he suffered three severe gashes in his left arm, two in his right, and three in his left leg, besides numerous other cuts and bruises, which covered his whole body. He is almost completely covered with bandages and plaster. Whether he had suffered internal injuries could not be ascertained. He was under ether for two hours while his wounds were dressed. He was moved to his home late Saturday evening.

The four occupants of the coupe were also taken to New London where it was found that Oliver and Anita Neimemuth were not severely injured. They were given medical attention for minor cuts and bruises, and returned to their home at Oshkosh Saturday evening. Kempinger was in a critical condition. It required numerous stitches to close the cuts on his body. Besides these, he was so severely bruised that he was almost totally unable to move. Miss Schmutzer also received severe lacerations to her head and body, and may have suffered internal injuries.

Both cars were brought to local garages, almost totally demolished.

PILLAR OF CURSE STILL INVOLATE

People Are Afraid to Remove Relic of Cyclone Predicted
by Preacher

Augusta, Ga.—For 46 years an old pillar has stood in the middle of the sidewalk on one of the main streets here. Just because people have been afraid to move it, hundreds walk around it daily.

The day before the tornado of 1875, an itinerant preacher addressing a meeting in front of the old market house, predicted the building would be destroyed by a cyclone.

Only one of the big concrete pillars supporting it, he said, would be left standing. And any attempt to move it, he warned, would be fatal. The person who tried it would be struck by lightning.

The cyclone came the next day. It razed the market house just as the preacher had predicted. One pillar alone remained.

Later in the year a street was cut through, where the market formerly had stood. When it was found it would be necessary to move the pillar, considerable difficulty was experienced in getting men who were willing to undertake the job. Finally a few were found.

Nothing happened until they had gone about 25 feet with the old post. Then a terrific explosion was heard. It later developed a practical joker had touched off a giant firecracker. But the pillar never was moved any further. It was set up just where it had fallen. The sidewalk was built around it.

Ever since Augusta residents have been walking around the "pillar with a curse."

MISSIONARIES CURE CHINESE OF OPIUM

The Hague, Holland — Dispatches from Deli, Sumatra, tell of remarkable cures of the opium habit effected by the American Methodist mission among the Chinese fishing population there.

The cure, which is administered internally, takes a fortnight. That the victims are conscious of their vice and only too anxious to be delivered from it is shown by the fact that the tiny mission hospital is booked up for more than six months ahead, and it is declared that 25 patients, most of them complete opium wrecks, have been wholly cured, says the Deli Courant.

Several localities in the Dutch East Indies have petitioned the colonial government to start this American treatment in other places where the habit prevails.

YANKS BEAT THE DUTCH IN INTEREST IN GUIANA

Amsterdam, Holland—That Americans seem to take far more interest in Dutch Guiana than do the people at home, was the plaint of Baron A. J. van Heemstra, Dutch governor of Surinam, who has been spending a business vacation in the motherland.

To an interviewer the governor mentioned the activities of a strong American exploration syndicate, whose experts passed through Paramaribo last month and who are now prospecting for gold in the interior of the colony.

German industrial firms, the governor added, also have shown great eagerness in taking up various development propositions, but curiously enough the Dutch themselves are not coming forward very readily, except for a proposal to erect a sugar refinery in the colony.

CANAL SAVES AUTO
Phoenix, Ariz.—An auto standing on a street here suddenly burst into flames. The owner pushed it into an irrigation canal. The flames were extinguished, another car pulled it out, and he drove off with only slight damage.

DESCENDANTS OF HISTORY

Descendants of prominent characters of early American history met in Lawrence, Kan., for the first time in more than a century when John Maxon, center, great grand-nephew of Meriwether Lewis, who commanded the Lewis and Clark expedition, met Bernice (left) and Esther Burnette, great grandchildren of Sacajawea, famous Indian guide. The sisters are grandchildren of Baptiste, the baby born to Sacajawea on the expedition, and whom she carried on her back from Fort Mandan to the Pacific ocean.

Congress Doesn't Want To Broadcast Its Meeting

The American political practice of saying much and meaning little is what is keeping the people from hearing Congress by radio.

This is not an individual opinion, but one proclaimed by many interested both in politics and in radio, who see little or no chance of having the speeches of congressmen broadcast to the country. England may get ahead of America by installing a broadcasting outfit in Parliament. But, though many suggestions of this kind have been made even on the floor of Congress, nothing is done about it in this country.

The reason is the weariness of congressmen to let the public know exactly what is going on during their sessions. They have the Congressional Record for this purpose, and that is edited, revamped, cleared of all improprieties, for popular consumption.

WHAT WE MISS!
No representative wants his constituents to hear him bantering peevish remarks that are so often heard on the floor. Neither does a senator like to have his public hear the reading of old toasts, irrelevant to the subject at hand, just to block action on a measure.

"We broadcast political conventions because we now know the people are intensely interested in the methods of governmental procedure, as well as in the men chosen to run for office," says Prof. J. H. Morecroft, noted radio authority, in the June issue of Radio Broadcast.

MORE IMPORTANT
"But we might ask: what is more important to know who is chosen to run for office or to know what he does after he gets in?"

"Assuredly the activities of Congress are of more importance to the average citizen than are the proceedings of the national conventions." Morecroft therefore suggests that the proceedings of Congress be broadcast and that someone be found who could impress Congress with its necessity.

General Dawes, he adds, appears to be the best man to act on this.

A. CONAN DOYLE OPENS SPIRITUALIST BOOKSHOP

London—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle not only writes books nowadays, but he sells them. Sir Arthur operates a book shop across the street from Westminster abbey and has taken over active management of the stock, which consists entirely of psychic literature. Not even the "Sherlock Holmes" best sellers will be stocked. The shop has been called the "Psychic Bookshop and Library" and will be used principally as a distributing house for pamphlets and books dealing with spiritualism.

Several localities in the Dutch East Indies have petitioned the colonial government to start this American treatment in other places where the habit prevails.

STAGE And SCREEN

HOW MUCH WOULD YOU SACRIFICE FOR YOUR GIRL?

Would you sacrifice your good name for the girl you loved? That is the situation Conway Tearle has to face in "Bad Company" which plays at Fischers Appleton Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

This photoplay has been adopted from the popular magazine story published in "Everybody's" under the title of "The Ultimate Good." Stirring scenes are from Earl Carrols Vanties including the famous "Counting the Hours" scene with Kathryn Ray as the living pendulum.

On the same program is Harry Langdon who in a little over a year's time has arrived as one of the most popular comedians on the screen. The Pathe Co. are now preparing to star him in feature length comedies following his startling successes in two reel comedies. The name of his vehicle on this program is "All Nite Long." Also a reel of latest news will be shown as well as Aesops Fables and funny cartoons.

ALICE JOYCE CHANGES MOMENT SHE ENTERS STUDIO TO WORK

Alice Joyce, star in the "The Scarab Ring," which will be shown at the New Bijou theater today and Tuesday is a changed person the moment she enters the studio. She endeavors to lose herself in the character and is often forgetful of all about her. This was particularly noticeable in the scenes of "The Scarab Ring," which took place in the Tombs prison. The heroine is held for trial on circumstantial evidence and is placed in a cell in the Tombs. From the moment Miss Joyce reached the scene where she was accused she became dejected. A natural melancholia spread over her. She walked out of the set like one in a trance and when confined to her cell sat absorbed in deep thought. Even between scenes when other members of the company were enjoying themselves with laughter and frivolities, Miss Joyce sat silent, her head bowed and her eyes looking into the distance as if buried in thought.

This but one instance where the star has lost herself in a role and remained so until the final scene of the day had been shot. She lives in the character until the end of the play and for this reason Alice Joyce has risen to heights which few attain and is known as a star who is in a class by herself.

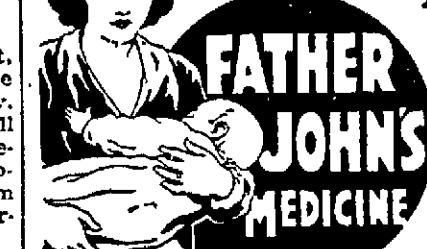

"I WANT MY MAN"
As Earl Hudson has produced it, "I Want My Man," showing at the Elite today, Tuesday and Wednesday, is well acted, well directed and well told. It is a drama well worth seeing, with a story of weight and moment. The film was adapted from Struthers Burt's novel, "The Interpreter's House."

The picture has been well cast. Phyllis Haver, May Allison and Paul Nicholson give excellent renditions as the victims of jazz mania. Kate Bruce and Theresa Maxwell. Conover, as a pair of mothers give contrasting portrayals of equal merit. Little Frankie Evans shows promise in a child role.

The story is that of a war nurse who gives up the husband she has married when he was believed incurably blind in the hope of winning him back on even terms with the girl to whom he was engaged before his war calamity. Cured, he returns to the home he has not seen for eight years—to find it on the verge of ruin through a new spirit of pleasure chasing. Into this home, her identity unknown, comes the former wife, and here the problem of the woman who has waited and the woman who gave him up for love is solved.

TROPICS NEXT TO BE VISITED BY EXPLORERS

Geographical Experts Think Immense Productive Country Can Be Tamed

CHARLES F. STEWART

Washington—With the Arctic in a fair way to be conquered soon and criss-crossed in every direction by air routes, the National Geographic Society is beginning to show increasing interest in the tropics, especially tropical America.

The latter may become convenient for aviators to short cut across, but never are likely to support many people as permanent inhabitants.

In South America, on the other hand, is an area about the size of the United States, unexplored and unsettled by civilized men, except along the coast and main water courses, certainly enormously productive and presumably unpopulated but for a few small Indian tribes.

Even these can be killed off to make room for civilization. Again excepting the coast and the big rivers, which are known already, this virgin field stretches approximately from the Caribbean to the Tropic of Capricorn, from the Atlantic to the Andes, something like 2000 by 3000 miles. An empire!

Now's a good time to start on giving it the "once over," the National Geographic folk think.

But it won't be as easy as the regions of the poles. They're penetrated by bold dashes. This is a vast jungle of six million square miles.

A process of slow nibbling is the only way of vanquishing it. Any attempt to take it by storm means death—not half the time, as at the earth's hubs, but almost inevitably.

An airplane might fly over a corner of it, a dirigible, perhaps, clear across. But land! Not a chance! The only way to explore it is to cut through half a dozen miles a day.

Para, a modern city of 120,000 at the Amazon's mouth, stands in the shadow of the jungle wall—almost a solid one, of tree trunks and interlacing vines.

Three years ago I met there the members of a party just back from a 6-month railroad reconnaissance in the interior. These men's faces were bleached to a prison pallor. Never under a man-made roof the whole time, throughout the whole year they had been cut off completely by the jungle mat, from the sun.

Productive? Too much so! That is to say, this country's superabundance of vegetable life makes it almost impossible to clear and keep cleared. The jungle can be driven back only by slow degrees.

Once driven back, it can be held back only by constant vigilance. Otherwise it regains its own with astonishing rapidity. The best description I've seen of it was written in letter form for an English language publication at Rio de Janeiro. The writer began:

"This is the war to the very knife."

"Mankind against the trees, which, without sound of drum or rifle."

"In silent ranks of floral life, 'Cling to the ground they seize."

"Not much as poetry, perhaps, but it tells the story."

Nevertheless, bit by bit this country can be and is sure to be tamed. It's worth it. Twelve months of summer but never as hot as Washington day.

Ample rainfall. A bottomlessly rich soil.

Unhealthy? Deadly, in the interior, where nature has her undisputed way, but no worse at the coast cities with modern medicine on the job than in present-day Havana or Panama.

Anyway, until the Geographic people have finished with this half of a continent, more or less, they haven't discovered everything.

RAINS GIVE MORE POWER FLOWAGE

Government Doubles Runoff of Water to Mills. Due to Higher Lake Level

More than double the supply of water used for power the last few weeks now is provided the mills of the Fox river valley through authority given the waterpower interests to increase the flowage over the dams from 1,700 cubic feet a second to 3,500. Recent rains made this possible.

Absence of the usual volume of snow this winter and the lack of spring rains made the lake level quite low and the government ordered the runoff of water at a minimum to conserve it for the hot summer months.

One rainstorm of the last week was shown by records kept at Green Bay to have been 1.6 inches and the others also added to the amount. The Green Bay and Wolf river areas therefore have had a plentiful supply and the war department authorized the use of a greater quantity.

PROMINENT MEN TALK TO BANKERS

Douglas Malloch to Be One of Chief Speakers at Milwaukee Convention

Appleton bankers who plan to attend the annual meeting in Milwaukee on June 16 and 17, will hear a number of prominent speakers talk on a variety of subjects, according to Wall G. Coapman, secretary of the Wisconsin Bankers association who is in charge of arrangements.

The annual get together dinner of the bankers will be held on Monday night, the evening preceding the opening of the convention. This is the yearly fun-fest of the bankers, and this year Knute Anderson of Eau Claire has been chosen as "ringmaster." Douglas Malloch, Chicago writer and humorist, will be the chief speaker at the banquet. The subject of his talk will be "Some Sinners I Have Met." A dance will follow the get together, which this year was arranged for men and women.

President W. H. Doyle of the bankers association will give his annual address and review of banking affairs at the opening of the first meeting on Tuesday, June 16, followed by Dwight H. Parker, state commissioner of banking laws and give a general report on legislation affecting banking. At the afternoon meeting Tuesday there will be a round table with sectional conferences. A round table also will be held for the discussion of the agricultural situation, under the direction of J. P. Kettenhofen, Oconomowoc banker, who also is chairman of the state agricultural committee.

HUGE ORGAN ORDERED FOR FONDY THEATRE

When the theater now in progress of construction in Fond du Lac by the Fischer Paramount Theater Co. is completed it will have the only organ of its kind in the state, according to an announcement made by Frank W. Fischer, president of the company. The instrument will be made by the Bartola Organ Co. of Oshkosh. It will be even larger than the one in the Wisconsin theater at Milwaukee. The Milwaukee organ has three manuals while the new one in Fond du Lac will have four.

The console, instead of being built of mahogany or some other dark wood, will be made of ivory like that of the organ of the Tivoli theater in Chicago, Mr. Fischer said. When the organist is to give a special number the instrument will be raised out of the pit by means of a hydraulic lift, so that the audience may see it, with spot lights of various colors playing upon it.

Contracts for seats and other equipment also have been let, and the new edifice promises to be one of the most beautiful and modern in the middle west.

12 HOMES PUT UNDER QUARANTINE IN MONTH

Twelve homes were quarantined by the city health department during May, according to the report of Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer. Nineteen homes were placed under quarantine because of three of the homes, scarlet fever of four and small pox of five, while placarded homes housed cases of whooping cough, chicken pox and measles. The deputy health officer reported that during the month he fumigated 12 homes, 11 of which were released. Ten sanitary inspections were made, he made 50 milk and cream tests and four inspections of stores.

ZIMDARS MADE HIGH BOY SCOUT

Fifteen Others Pass Examinations Before Court of Honor for Second-Class

Harry Zimdars of American legion troop No. 4 is the first boy scout to pass the examination for first class scout since Valley Council. Boy Scouts of America was reorganized. He was examined by a court of honor at the city hall Friday evening, together with 15 who were promoted to second class.

Tests were conducted by P. O. Keler, valley executive, and Harry Mory, scoutmaster of troop 4.

Zimdars earned promotion from second to first class by completing a group of requirements. Among them was a 50-yard swim, the saving of $2 signaling, a prescribed hike, first aid, cooking, map preparation, handicraft, judging, nature study and other activities. Some of the tests were taken previously by special examiners who certified to his proficiency.

Thirteen boys from troop No. 6, St. Mary church, and two others from troop No. 4, American legion, passed from tenderfoot rank to that of second class scout. Service, first aid, signaling tracking use of knife and axe, cooking, thrift and knowledge of the compass are among the requirements. Those qualifying in troop 6 were Willard Kiley, Isadore Navarre, Jack Kimball, Arthur Roemer, Mark VanRyzin, Charles Bodmer, Carl Newland, John Zuehlke, Joseph Gilman, George Kerrigan Merin Pitt, Roger Lyons and Aloysius Moran. Troop 4 promoted Herbert Schmidt and Dean Mory to second class.

RADIO MAKES COLLEGE FAMOUS

Members of St. Olaf Choir Appear in Programs from Station WCAL

St. Olaf college, home of the famous St. Olaf Lutheran choir which will appear for the second time in Lawrence Memorial chapel here on June 10, has become widely known in the western hemisphere as the home also of a splendid broadcasting station, WCAL, whose programs rank with those of the best stations in the country.

On last New Years day greetings were broadcasted in twenty different languages by professors and students of the college and Northfield citizens. A veritable avalanche of mail resulted, written in almost as many different languages, expressing the appreciation of thousands of people throughout the country who had heard the greatest music spoken to them in their mother tongue.

Station WCAL broadcasts the daily chapel exercises held in the college auditorium. On Friday evenings lectures are given by the college professors on literature, the arts and sciences, and on Sunday evenings a sermon and sacred music. Thursday evenings are devoted to vocal and instrumental music and a special musical program is sent out at midnight on Saturdays, particularly for people in the west. The music for these special programs is very largely supplied by members of the St. Olaf Lutheran choir although the choir as such does not participate. All of these programs have become very popular with radio fans all over the country, and letters and cards have been received from such distant points as Alaska, Nova Scotia, Porto Rico, Central America, South America and the Hawaiian Islands, commending especially the high standard set and maintained by WCAL.

Every state in the Union has been heard from, every province of Canada, Mexico and South America. Officers in an Army observation balloon sent the message "We are way up above the clouds, but we hear WCAL very distinctly." A radio operator on a fast transcontinental train wired "Passengers enjoying your concert immensely," and ships out in the Pacific ocean have made similar reports.

EXPECT TO START OILING CITY STREETS THIS WEEK

Six carloads of oil have been ordered for oiling twenty-eight streets placed on the 1925 list by the common council, and as soon as these arrive the street department plans to start the work. The oil is expected here early this week, and probably the first of the oil will be applied to the road at the south end of the Cherry-st bridge.

Many complaints have been heard regarding the dust on that road, the cinders having become pulverized to a depth of several inches. Robert F. Hackworthy, assistant street commissioner, issued instructions Saturday morning to have the street foreman get all the oiling machinery in order, so that no time will be lost after the oil arrives.

H. S. GRADUATES HAPPY ON 50TH YEAR OF SCHOOL

Former Students Recall Old Days at Golden Jubilee Banquet

Menasha—The banquet given by the Alumni association of Menasha high school in S. A. Cook armory Saturday evening in commemoration of the golden jubilee of the high school was one of the most notable school events in the history of Fox river valley. It was attended by more than 300 graduates from all over the state and United States and was a homecoming of a most demonstrative kind. Class yells almost shook the foundations of the building.

"What is the matter with John Calahan?" shouted a graduate at one of the center tables as the state superintendent of education, who was principal at former high school principal at one time, was asked by more than 100 graduates who were more than 100 years old. The state superintendent, who was asked by more than 100 graduates who were more than 100 years old, was asked by more than 100 graduates who were more than 100 years old.

ARMORY DECORATED

Whenever the applause was deafening a noise-producing instrument difficult to locate was turned loose and nearly drowned it out. A group of graduates in black "silk" hats arose from the banquet table several times to assure certain individuals in song "they were glad they were here."

The armory was handsomely decorated and the guests were seated at long tables running lengthwise of the building with the speakers' table running crosswise at the rear. The entire room was represented and the guests were seated in groups. Community singing enlivened things during the banquet. Twenty-five high school girls acted as waitresses. The older graduates, many of whom have gray hair, cordially welcomed the new class into the family fold.

F. E. Sensesbrenner, general chairman of the Alumni association, acted as toastmaster and introduced the speakers in a humorous vein.

Attorney Silas L. Spengler, '13, was selected to welcome the class of '25. He said he took great pleasure in welcoming it into the Alumni association, which he asserted was a wonderful organization. "I don't think it can be denied," declared Mr. Spengler, "that the class of '25 is the best class that ever graduated from Menasha high school."

Webb Chapman, of the class of '25, in a few words thanked the Alumni association for its welcoming into this organization. He said he fully hoped the class would prove to be one of the strong links in its chain.

GLAD TO GET BACK

Attorney A. H. Schubert, '26, speaking of "The Day We Celebrate" confessed it gives one a great deal of pleasure to get back in the old home town and meet many of those whom you have not met for a long time. Prof. A. B. Dunlap of Ohio, a former principal, was assigned the subject "Laudators Temporis Acti." He said it was his good fortune to come to Menasha 32 years ago at the time the community was passing from its lower stage of development to a higher stage.

The bond of the railroad had been discharged and the city fathers were looking around to see what to do. The first great improvement was the paving of Main street with cedar blocks. Now, in addition to the material improvements there was a period of intellectual improvement.

Max Schoetz, '26, dean of Marquette university law school, declared the superintendent of Menasha high school is to be congratulated on the high standard he has set for his curriculum. "I have always been proud of Menasha high school," he said, "proud as a student there, but I am still more proud of it as I look at it from without. The credentials of the high school are accepted anywhere in the United States at 100 per cent."

"I always get inspiration in coming back to Menasha. We go out from Menasha with renewed spirit and renewed energy," he said. "I have always been proud of Menasha. I always compare everything with Menasha, and then I figure. That is the way I size up the situation."

Mayor N. G. Rummel, who has had nine members of his family graduate, talked on "How Are We Building?" In addressing the boys and girls he said he was filled up with happiness and pleasure on their behalf and on behalf of the people of Menasha.

He said he was not fortunate enough to have been a graduate of any school except the school of experience and hard work. He was not fortunate enough to go to school after he was 11 years old.

I speaking of courtesy the mayor said it was one of the greatest things one can take home. He advised the boys and girls to learn to take orders and be ready to serve opportunities. The man that determines to make good will make good, he declared.

State Superintendent John Calahan talked briefly in a general way. He said he would not start reminiscing because he might forget too much time. During the next 50 years he said there was one thing he was willing to prophesy and that was there might come a time when the city would have a new acquisition. He said he expected to attend the seventy-fifth anniversary and made the proposition that if Menasha would agree to get a message through to

FALCONS WIN ONE LOSE IN TWO WEEKEND GAMES

Menasha—The baseball team of the Falcon Athletic association defeated the state penitentiary team at Wau-pun Saturday by a score of 6 to 5. The Falcons played errorless ball and made 4 double plays. The home team was unable to connect with John Welscher who was on the mound for the visitors.

The Falcon team was defeated by the Wau-pun Rocks at Oshkosh Sunday, 14 to 1. The Menasha team led until the sixth inning to 1 to 0. Sokolski held Oshkosh hitless until the sixth inning. Costly errors in the eighth inning won the game for Oshkosh.

DR. DELMARCELLE SAYS HE WILL RECOVER

Menasha—Dr. C. C. Duty to ones self and to others is the first to be considered, he said. Good service is at all times essential to business and without this service a business fails. Dr. Jones applied this to the members of the graduating class who were going out into the world to give service where needed and "if this service is given cheerfully there is not a boy or girl who cannot be a success," he said.

The third principal, stewardship, was the keeping of the fact in mind of duty and service, the care of one's character, habits, friendship with good friends and the church which was the greatest help to all.

FISH HAVE NO CHANCE IN MUDDY UTAH RIVER

Washington, D. C.—An ideal stream for the lazy or impatient fisherman, who craves nourishment rather than the thrill of the catch, has been discovered by interior department engineers in the inaccessible, turbid San Juan River, one of the main tributaries of the Colorado in Utah.

The swiftly flowing San Juan, called Pawhuska (mad water) by the Navajo Indians who live nearby, never gets clear and sometimes it carries three times as much silt as water.

At times the river runs with a smooth oily movement like that of molten metal, so red and viscous it is with silt. At such times the fish become exhausted and flounder on the surface, their dorsal fins projecting into the air. Then the fisherman needs only to arm himself with a club and wad cautiously into the mud to catch a fish with bare hands after he has stunned it with a blow.

Hints About Building A New Home

Washington—If you are planning on building a home, your Uncle Sam can tell you a lot about it.

Under Secretary Hoover's direction, the Department of Commerce has made an intensive study of home building problems, and here's what Dr. John M. Gries, Hoover's expert, has to say to those who aspire to build a home:

Don't count on building a home for much less than $1,000 a room.

Don't economize on the main structure—it's apt to prove expensive.

Additions and improvements can be added later.

Don't worry too much about what material to use—any material is good if the house is well built.

NEED SIX ROOMS

"The average family of four or five needs at least a sixroom house," says Dr. Gries. "There must be a living room, dining room, kitchen, parents' bedroom and two children's bedrooms."

"It is foolish to economize on the basic structure. For example, the sides of a house may be made of sheathing, nailed right to the studs—but the money saved in this way will be more than burned up by the coal bill."

"After a house is built, it is relatively easy to add a porch or put in a shower bath, but it is an expensive proposition to rip out walls for wiring and plumbing or repair an insecure foundation."

"As to material, the most practical system is to use the material easiest to get, and thus save expense. For example, if I were building a home in Portland, Ore., I would probably build it of lumber; in Reading, Pa., I'd most likely build it of brick."

COMFORTABLE LIVING ROOM

"As to the interior—

"The living room should be the most used room in the house. That means it should be large enough to be perfectly comfortable—and it should LOOK comfortable. When you walk into it, you should have the feeling that you want to stay there."

"The other rooms are just as important in their way, but they are not occupied as much. They should be laid out, therefore, more with a view to efficiency than anything else."

"A very popular system now is to build a combination living and dining room, one end of which can be partially screened off during meal times and thrown open during the rest of the day."

"The kitchen need not be large, but it should be most carefully planned. It is the woman's workshop, and it should lack nothing to make it light, cheerful and convenient."

"A dining alcove is most desirable and will save many steps."

"The bedrooms can be fairly small. That won't interfere with their comfort. The main thing is to have them well ventilated—and plenty of closet room."

ENSEMBLE EFFECT IS NEWEST FEATURE IN BATHING COSTUMES FOR SUMMER

THE BATHING COSTUME AT THE LEFT ILLUSTRATES THE NEW ENSEMBLE EFFECT. IT IS MADE OF BRIGHT-COLORED PRINTED CRETONNE. THE OTHER MODELS ILLUSTRATE THE NEW SUITS, WITH EMBROIDERY IN BRILLIANT COLORS, AND THE NEW BANDANA BATHING CAPS.

New York—The bathing suit manufacturers evidently are completely sold on Ziegfeld's idea that the American girl should be glorified, and never more so than when taking the daily dip. For there's many a revealing suit among the new models.

But there is a new touch. The general ensemble idea is being carried out in beach attire. The smartest outfits are three-piece, with suit, cape or coat and hat all forming a harmonious picture. And the girl need only find a convenient hickory limb on which to park the wrap, and she is ready for the waves.

The girl who really likes to swim will always prefer the one-piece Annette Keller mann type of swimming suit of wool jersey. For her sake this usually plain type of garment has been elaborated with embroidery and given its long jersey cape so that it has become positively decorative.

And the girl who likes to look lovely on the beach and doesn't care much about the water has every type to select from. There are suits of silk, satin and velvet, and then the more summery type of gingham and flowered chintz in gay colors, usually bound and trimmed with plain colors.

There are corage and shoulder bouquets of rubber that are quite as lovely as those of velvet or silk before they strike the water and infinitely more lovely afterward.

There are scarfs and ties of rubberized silk that make it possible to carry out the latest effects in the line of collars and belts.

In bathing caps, nothing is more popular than the printed scarf of rubberized silk, under which the swimmer may wear a close-fitting rubber cap and save her wave. Other caps of rubber are trimmed with flowers and applied effects that are copied after the most advanced styles in millinery.

If the waves are wild this summer, no one can hold it against them.

Adventures Of The Twins

THE HURDY GURDY MAN

"Where are we going now?" asked Nick.

The March Hare considered a minute. "I'm not sure," he said, "whether it is more important to get the Hurdy Gurdy Man started, and Jocko, his monkey, or to get after the Ice-Cream-Cono Man. Spring doesn't start, really, until both of them are out."

"Oh, let's hunt up the Hurdy Gurdy Man first," cried Nancy.

"Very well," said the March Hare. "The Hurdy Gurdy Man it is."

So the twins got on the March Hare's willing back and away he went like the wind.

They passed the jolly Rag Man driving his old horse slowly along and singing loudly through his nose. "Rag-a-gent! Old iron! Rubber-Bottles—paper—and shoes! Rag-a-gent! Old iron!"

He waved at them as they passed. Next they passed the Scissor Grinder with his grindstone strapped to his back. "Scissors to grind!" he kept calling.

But people were so busy opening their doors and rushing out to get their dull scissors and knives sharpened, that he never even saw the three travelers speeding on their way.

They passed the Umbrella Mender next. "It's a good thing he's getting about his business!" remarked the hare. "It is certainly clouding up to rain."

And then they came to the Hurdy Gurdy man's house.

"Come in," said he when they knocked.

"How da do?" he grinned. "You must excuse. I give Jocko da bath."

Sure enough he was scrubbing his monkey, and dear knows, I'm sure he needed it—the monkey did. There lay his little bright red coat and cap all ready to put on. And even a brand new tin cup was waiting to be filled with pennies.

"Tomorrow I go out and play da 'Eambalina' and 'No Bananas,'" said the Hurdy Gurdy Man. "I make da kids dance and sing."

The March Hare looked worried. "It seems to me, Mister Hurdy Gurdy Man," said he, "that there are newer tunes this year. A Hurdy Gurdy Man must be up to date. You'll have to learn Follow the Swallow and 'Tea for Two' and 'The Indian Love Call' and a lot of others."

"You don't say," exclaimed the Hurdy Gurdy Man. "Da day after tomorrow I start. It takes me one day to learn."

"That will do," said the March Hare. "Good-bye, sir, and good luck."

"My!" said Nick when they had left. "It's a good thing we went, isn't it? Everyone has to keep in style with times same as hats, doesn't he?"

"I should say so," remarked the Hare. "But it seems a pity, too. Some tunes are so pretty we never get tired of them. It's queer, too, how they keep thinking up new ones. You think that every single tune in

Bring Out Your Assets, Says Bendel

New York—Learn to camouflage your figure. That is one of the secrets of being stylishly dressed, says Henri Bendel, fashion authority.

Disguise your liabilities and bring out your assets.

"In clothes, as in conversation, if you have nothing important or appropriate to say, it is better not to flaunt your opinions," Bendel says.

"If you can't be eloquent with your clothes, it is better to maintain a discreet silence by conforming to the mode and giving your attention to the perfect of detail."

"In the art of fashion camouflage, there are many ways of lengthening short lines and breaking up those that are too long without the slightest suggestion of obviousness."

"A cape just the right length, a jabot skillfully handled, a ruffle raised or lowered, a sash tied on the front instead of the side, a broken hemline, instead of a straight, uncompromising one, a high waistline, instead of a low one—all these and several others may make all the difference in the world in your appearance."

"Notice the lines on the gowns of well dressed women. When you buy a dress that satisfies you find out what makes it different from those you don't like, and look for that feature next time."

It is safer in most cases to be a conservative rather than a radical, Bendel says.

Health Hints

USE THE HANDKERCHIEF

"If I had children like those Smith children, or a husband like Jones, I certainly would begin teaching them what to do with their hands," Mrs. Mann of Anytown declared.

"Those children forever have their fingers in their mouth, and their father is not much better. He picks his nose because he is too lazy to use a handkerchief."

"If there is a cold in the community, or measles, or other disease, those children are almost sure to get it."

"They deliberately put germs in their mouths."

"And if they have colds, or other infections of the nasal and oral passages, they are most certain to transmit the infection to others."

"Why so emphatic? Explain yourself," Mr. Mann interjected, looking up from his paper. "Often I forget to use a handkerchief myself."

"Well, if you do, it is your own fault," replied his wife.

"There are always plenty of clean handkerchiefs here and I put them right out where you can get them."

"And say, while you're taking about handkerchiefs, I want you to quit using them to shine your shoes."

"All right, all right, but what were you saying about Jones and his children?"

EAT CAREFULLY WHEN ENERGY IS EXHAUSTED

When the nerves or muscles are in a state of exhaustion as the result of effort, all the bodily activities are slowed down. The taking of a hearty meal under such conditions is often attended by bad results. Digestion fails for lack of a sufficient amount of active gastric juice, and acute indigestion is a frequent consequence. Rest, especially sleep, is indicated rather than food, unless the exhausted person has been fasting for some time. In such cases the most suitable nourishment will be found in a solution of honey or maple sugar in water or diluted fruit juice. Nutrient of this sort is quickly absorbed and immediately appropriated, requiring little or no action of the digestive organs. An exhausted person, after resting for an hour or two, may take simple food in liberal quantity. Eating heartily when one is tired out by either mental or muscular effort is likely to be followed by indigestion, and incapacity for work.

The world has been made up—that there isn't half a chance for another. And alone comes somebody with a whole handful of new songs that you have to go to a lot of trouble to learn them. Too! But that's the way of the world and it's good for our brains.

"There's one tune I hope he won't play this year," added the hare.

"What?" asked the Twins together.

"Mister Gallagher," sighed the March Hare wearily.

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

Breakfast—Stewed rhubarb, scrambled eggs, broiled bacon, crisp bran toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Baked new cabbage, brown bread, cup custard, plain cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Pot roast of beef, potatoes roasted with meat, brown gravy, creamed new carrots, spinach salad, cream puffs with strawberry cream filling.

Some authorities on the feeding of young children consider a "brown gravy" one of the forbidden foods. If the gravy is rich with fat, heated to intense heat for the purpose of browning, it most assuredly is forbidden. But if the gravy is browned by the meat juices as in a pot roast and slightly thickened with flour, well cooked before serving, it makes a delicious and popular dish for children.

BAKED NEW CABBAGE

Four cups, finely shredded cabbage, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1½ cups milk, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, 4 tablespoons buttered crumbs.

Let cabbage stand in cold water for 1 hour before slicing. Pour boiling water over cabbage and let stand 1 minute. Drain and plunge into very cold water and let stand 2 minutes. Drain. Put into 2 quarts rapidly boiling water salted with 2 teaspoons salt and boil uncovered for ten minutes. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. When thick and smooth season with salt and pepper. Add drained cabbage and turn into a buttered baking dish. Cover with buttered crumbs and brown in a hot oven.

STRAWBERRY CREAM FILLING

One-half cup, butter, 1½ cups powdered sugar, 1 egg white, 1½ cups strawberries cut in halves.

Beat butter to a cream and beat in 1 cup sugar. Beat until light. Beat white of egg until stiff and dry with a wire whisk. Beat in remaining sugar. Fold egg mixture into

DIET OF SPRING GREENS BEST OF ALL MEDICINES

A diet of spring greens is the best of all medicines to make that tired feeling disappear. Nature appreciating this, has wisely provided young green things in abundance to appeal to our appetites.

The large class of leafy vegetables belongs to this spring group—spinach, lettuce, chard, turnip and beet tops, dandelion, lamb's-quarter, field salad, watercress and cabbage are the most common, though in different sections of the country there are many other of the field-greens that are available. They serve to correct the deficiencies in certain groups of foods by supplying vitamins and minerals, and they supplement the cereals, legumes and meat by adding the green materials and bulk needed to make a well-balanced diet.

Aside from the leafy vegetables we have the crisp radish, flavorless spring onion, baby beets and tiny golden carrots; pink stems of succulent rhubarb, the green and white asparagus and hothouse tomatoes.

The root vegetables—radishes, beets and carrot—are good correctives for constipation as they supply bulk or indigestible fiber in considerable amount.

butter mixture and add berries. Mix carefully and use.

(Copyright, 1925, NEA Service, Inc.)

Carrots are also useful as a source of lime, and beets supply some sugar.

Young tender carrots, radishes, most of the leafy vegetables, tomatoes, and onions can be combined to make delicious salads. Their freshness and crispness stimulate the appetite and they also furnish iron, lime, potassium and other minerals that make them splendid tonic foods.

One of our leading food writers suggests that when the young vegetables must be cooked, be careful not to overcook them. Wash them thoroughly, add just enough water to cover, cover closely and boil for fifteen to thirty minutes, according to the vegetable. By that time most of the water should have been absorbed or have evaporated. In most cases do not drain the vegetables, simply season with butter—plenty of it—salt and pepper and serve very hot. The leafy vegetables will have to be drained and chopped, then season in the same way.

Steel wool is an excellent material for polishing and may be bought at any paint store. It comes in graduated sizes like sandpaper.

BRAN FOR SOAP

Bran may be used in place of soap for washing cretonnes and colored fabrics, and will have a tendency to starch as well as cleanse the fabric.

PAPER TOWELS

Paper towels are much cheaper than linen for use in the kitchen if you have to consider the laundry proposition.

USE HEAVY BRUSH

Water leaves a dark spot on a waxed floor and oil makes it sticky. The best way to keep it clean is with a heavy polishing brush heavily weighted.

BLEACH LACES

Old laces that have become yellow from being packed away may be bleached by placing in a thick soapsuds to which considerable bluing has been added. Boil for about 15 minutes, then hang in the sun to dry.

LETTER FROM ZOE ELLINGTON TO ELIZABETH SWARTZ, GENEVA, SWITZERLAND, CONTINUED

The people with whom I live, my dear Elizabeth, are most interesting. There is Madame Hamilton, recently widowed, who always imbues me with great hope and courage. She does not seem like the old people that you and I know abroad. She does not sit as though as her life were over. She is interested in everything that is going on. I already love her. She is bearing the loss of her husband most bravely, and yet Sister Ruth—she says that I must call her sister—told me that Mrs. Hamilton's heart is buried with her husband, that they were the most devoted people she had ever seen.

Mr. Hamilton, in dying, left two daughters, one of whom, although seemingly the happiest of women, having everything that life could bestow committed suicide the other day. The other one is the Mrs. Prescott with whom I live. She is married to a wonderful man—big, handsome, jovial, gay, a typical American man of business.

I say this with perfect confidence because his wife's father, Mr. Hamilton, when he died left all his vast fortune in Mr. Prescott's hands, as well as the management of his great steel industry.

Mrs. Prescott has the saddest eyes I have ever seen in human face except those of the Greek Queen, Sophia, whom I saw that time, during the war at Lucerne.

I know that Mrs. Prescott has just passed through great sorrow in the death of her father and sister, but even that could not give her the deep dark eyes that look of lost hope and utter dejection I see in them when she thinks she is not observed.

I am sure there is some misunderstanding between Mr. and Mrs. Prescott, for Mr. Prescott has not been down here since we all came of course, here is the universal excuse of the American captain of industry—business—but that would not keep any man from his wife when she is as near to him as Atlantic City to Pittsburg, especially when his wife is looking forward to another baby, as Mrs. Prescott is.

Whatever may be Mrs. Prescott's own private and personal trouble, she is certainly wonderful to everybody about her and especially good to me.

Oh, Elizabeth, I know that God has been very good to me in letting my lines fall in such pleasant places.

Of course, your dear mother would say: "Zoe, my dear, are you learning anything? Remember every day you must enfold something within your mind that will help you to live your life with greater content each year."

You can say to her that already I have confirmed that teaching of our dear Einstein-Sturmer: "Money can not confer happiness."

"Oh, Boy!" exclaimed Bobbie

Bobbie had been given a nickel. Also some specific advice by his mother as to just what kind of candy was best for him. So off he ran to the store.

"Life Savers," he said to the man. "This kind, Wint-o-green—," pointing out his favorite flavor.

And the genial storekeeper grinned his approval. He knew it was good business to have satisfied customers.

Every growing child craves candy. Active little bodies demand sugar. But children's candy must be pure—and they should not overeat on sweets.

Life Savers, the little candy mints with the hole (life-saver shape), answer this problem in just the right way. They are china-hard and deliciously flavored.

This means that Life Savers are eaten slowly. Children suck them to make those wonderful flavors last longer. Little tummies are not upset. And they are kind to tiny teeth.

Life Savers are safe and wholesome. You may conscientiously be generous with them, for they are the ideal candy for little folks.

Six flavors are displayed at all good stores so you may help yourself: Pep-o-mint, Wint-o-green, Cinnamon, Lic-o-ri-c, Cl-o-ve and Vi-o-let. Five cents a package.—Life Savers, Inc., Port Chester, N. Y.

NEW MENASHA CREW LOSES TO KELLOGG SQUAD, 10-2

Michigan State Champs Outplay Green Menasha Team In Its First Tilt

Rush and McMillen Hold Menasha Sluggers to Six Puny Blows in Sunday Game

Pounding out 12 hits for a total of 10 runs off Llewellyn Harry Rush's fast-tearing Kelloggs from Battle Creek, Mich., took the measure of the new Menasha ball club Sunday afternoon at Menasha park to tune of 10 to 2. Rush and McMillen held the Menashites to six scattered blows. Saturday Rush beat Sheboygan, 16 to 2. Johnson clouted the only extra base hits for the home crew, smacking a homer in the first inning and a double over the fence in the sixth in four bats. Menasha's second run came in the sixth as the result of Johnson's double and a single by Sylvester. Johnson was credited for both of the lead's markers. Dutch Sylvester set two hits in three outs, and Cy Shel-eski hit two singles.

Great fielding featured the Kellogg play. The Michigan boys made hard drives labelled for extra base hits like easy flies with their fine catches. The Kelloggs also showed plenty of hitting ability clouting seven doubles and two triples, one of the latter losers was hit by Rush. The Rushites' big innings were the second and fourth when they scored three and four tallies.

Every man on the Michigan squad, with the exception of Watson got a hit and Watson came over the pan with a run in the first inning. The winners lived up to their motto of "pep" showing plenty of fight and looked like a ball club that would make the big league crews hustle any day. They played the real article of baseball every minute.

CHAIRS BEAT KENOSHA IN BATTLE OF HOMERS

Sheboygan—Home run clouts decided the Wisconsin state league ball game here on Sunday when the Sheboygan defeated the Nash Motors of Kenosha, 3 to 2. Buddy Silcott with two homers and Heilberger with one gave the Chairs the victory. King Lear put Kenosha in the lead in the first inning with a homer with Wickland on the bags. Marks twirled a steady, heady game and was backed by perfect support.

Old-Timers Showing Up Youngster In Big Loops

Chicago—With the first six weeks of the 1925 season out of the way, a glance at the American League statistics reveals the fact that the veteran players, for the most part, are showing up the youngsters.

For instance, in batting, such old-timers as Cobb, Speaker, Sisler and Heilmann are around the top of the heap. Fact is, that outside of St. Louis, the Athletics, these stellar swashbucklers rank one-two-three-four.

The work of the quarter gives much food for thought. For Cobb is now in his 31st season, Speaker in his 18th, Sisler, 10th, and Heilmann, 11th. And oddly enough these four players are the only ones, with the exception of Babe Ruth, to have held the American League batting championship since 1906.

A few weeks ago, Cobb hunk up a new record by hitting five home runs in two games, while Sisler went through some 34 tilts without failing to get a hit. Cobb and Sisler are also well up in front in run-scoring.

Other veterans likewise have started off at a good clip and bid fair to adhere to their performances of past seasons.

Among the lots, Earl Combs of the Yankees and Ike Boone, Red Sox, look good. Both were in the league last year, though Combs was laid up most of the campaign with a fractured ankle sustained in a game at Cleveland.

Carlyle and Vache, two young Foh-lites, have also shown to advantage

RUSH MAKES CHAIRS LOOK SICK, 16 TO 2

Sheboygan—Hitting the ball to all corners of the lot the Kellogg Corn Flakes team of Battle Creek, Mich., swamped Sheboygan 16 to 2 in an exhibition game here Saturday. Rush, although a trifle wild, was invincible throughout and cawled out of several holes with flying colors. Wira started with the stick with five hits out of six chances, one a homer, one a triple and two two-sackers. Box score:

thus far. Both stack up as real clubbers. In pitching, the veterans have done well, too. Walter Johnson, now on his 12th season in big time, has chalked up seven victories against but two defeats. Old Man Quinn of the Red Sox is right up there as well with six triumphs and one reverse. Stanley Coveleskie, "Dutch" Leonard, "Red" Faber and others, veterans in baseball sense, have displayed some nice hurling in the first month and a half of play. Whether or not they can maintain the pace remains to be seen of course.

Of the youngsters, Sam Gray, Mack's star gunner, has been dishing up a sensational brand of stuff. Gray has eight wins to his credit. And has yet to be defeated. At present he's out of the game due to injuries. Charley Robertson, the White Sox pitcher, who broke into the hall of fame by hurling a no-run, no-hit, no-man-reach-first game against Detroit three seasons ago, seems to have finally hit a winning stride.

For the past two years Robertson was anything but a winning mounder for the Hoosier brigade. But this season he stocks up as one of Collins' real mainstays.

Summed up, the old laurels are with the veterans in the Johnsonian circuit. For in the main they've out-hit and out-pitched their younger rivals during the initial six weeks of pastime.

We can't say enough about the Kellogg fielding. Hits that should have been homers or triples seemed to fall in their paws with little effort. They sure looked like word champs out in those gardens.

Adding a brother in distress seems to be the motto of Bob Muesel, star outfielder of the Yaks. Big Bob with his pal Babe Ruth on the shelf, started a homerun cleanup that resulted in his leading the American League and tying both loops. Bob always was a hefty clouter, but slow on the paths and his home run ability was blotted out by the work of the Babe as a member of the same team.

We proved one of our boasts the other night when the Lions lost a good game to the Bankers. We always said that Twilight loop ball was slightly stronger than Lark loop ball, outside of the crack Legion squad, the class of the city. The Bankers in second in one league beat the second place crew of the other group and we claim that this would happen all the day down the column from second place on.

Lawrence college loses one of its most consistent track men this year in the graduation of Captain Wilmer Rebbeln of Appleton. "Wimpy" was a winner in both the half and quarter mile and brought more than his share of points to the Blue in his three years of real competition.

STATE LEAGUE TO PLAY 4 GAMES ON NEW SCHEDULE

Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday, Sunday Probable Dates of New Loop Schedule

Racine—Fans in the revamped Wisconsin State league are going to see four league games per week in the future, the league officials feeling that not enough games have been played in the past when only Saturday, Sunday and holiday dates were scheduled. Racine and Kenosha tried to give the fans more baseball by putting on a special inter-city series but this did not prove as good a drawing card as would league games. At a meeting of the officials of the Racine Athletics, Inc., it was decided to try to line up the Beloit Fairies, Kenosha Twin Sires and Sheboygan Chairs on a four game per week schedule. This plan will undoubtedly prove acceptable to Al Chubb of Beloit and Harry Myers of Kenosha. It will mean that Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday games will be played by the league.

The slump which has apparently been affecting the team in exhibition games of late was gone into at some length and it was thought advisable to make an immediate change in the lineup and the batting order. Ray Fox, utility player who has been giving good service as both a relief catcher and an infielder, will be shifted over to second base, his old position on the team, while Jimmy Swentown will get a chance at third. Tom Stevenson will be benched for awhile.

TALK OVER CHANGES

Other changes were also talked over but it was decided to watch the action of the various players in the two Beloit games before making any changes. If there is not a pickup in the playing before Monday, something drastic will be done as the club feels that it can not afford to play anything but top grade baseball. The club has a nice nest egg to work upon now but this will vanish quickly if the turnstile is not kept active and it takes good playing to get out a crowd in the local park. The club officials are going to co-operate with their players in every way possible but feel that they owe a good deal to the cash customers. They are accordingly going to do everything possible to keep up the team which has a good record on paper and which should be playing fine baseball.

Dave's Dots And Dashes

Appleton's new ball team showed plenty of stuff Sunday when it defeated Chilton. The gang is a fighting team, winning the last two games by ninth inning rallies. As this is what the ball fans like, it should get plenty of support. If the crowd keeps increasing as in the last two weeks, pro ball will soon be outa luck in these parts.

"Old" Dutch Sylvester showed up the youngsters again Sunday. The local boy clouted two hits in three tries and drove in a run beside playing a nice fielding game. And Eddie Corey, slugger de luxe and a youngster, only got three hits against the same team Saturday at Sheboygan. Dutch's "patient waiting" made him a hard man to pitch to. Bull Dunham, however was a disappointed guy. Swinging as if he was out for a distance record he got nary a hit, striking out once and losing a possible triple on a great catch another time. The look on his face when he fanned almost put three nervous fans in the hospital.

We can't say enough about the Kellogg fielding. Hits that should have been homers or triples seemed to fall in their paws with little effort. They sure looked like word champs out in those gardens.

APPLETON 10, Chilton 9.
Ford du Lac 13, Plymouth 7.
Campbellsport 13, Oshkosh 4.

Driving Schmidt from the mound in the eighth inning, the Fox River Paper Co. ball team of this city defeated the Chilton city team in a hard-fought battle in the Eastern Wisconsin League Sunday afternoon at Brandt park by a 10 to 9 score. The Papermakers scored three times in the inning came within a run of tying after trailing most of the game. After the visitors had failed to score in their half of the ninth, the Papermakers chalked up two more scores to win the game. Crowe pitched a nice game for Appleton and Cully Schultz contributed a homer and a single in five bats. Chilton scored a number of runs on errors, as did the locals. Everitt, Chilton center gardener, clouted a homer for his crew in the third, scoring two mates ahead of him. The Papermakers runs in the eighth came as a result of C. Tarno being hit by Schmidt and hits by Schultz, H. Tarnow, Radtke and Schultz. Meyer of the visitors stole three sacks.

INCREASE OF MILLION IN LICENSE REVENUE

Madison, Wis.—Owners of automobiles and motor vehicles paid $7,311,701.08 in licenses to the state of Wisconsin during the past fiscal year. Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman has announced. This was half a million dollars more than during the previous fiscal year, when $7,721,130.24 was collected. Of the receipts for motor registrations, $6,558,582.59 was received between January 1 and June 1, last, $563,145.99 between July 1, 1924 and December 31, 1924, and $59,372.59 since January 1, for delinquent fees from 1924.

Mr. Zimmerman estimated that motor vehicle registration fees would increase more than $1,000,000 during the ensuing fiscal year.

180 PLUMBING FIXTURES INSTALLED LAST MONTH

One hundred eighty plumbing fixtures were connected with the city sewers in May, according to the report of John H. Bauer, plumbing inspector, for that period. Forty-seven of these fixtures were toilets, 35 floor drains, 30 wash basins, 22 sinks, 22 bath tubs and the rest conductors, laundry tubs, shower baths, drinking fountains, ice boxes and coffee urns.

The total number of permits to open trenches in streets during May for the installation or repair of services from the main to the property was 69.

C. C. LENDING HAND TO START GARBAGE PLAN

Board Indorses Suggestion to Make It Issue—Washington Reports Given

Indorsement of the proposal of the community welfare committee to make garbage disposal the major activity for this year was given by the board of directors of the chamber of commerce at the regular meeting Wednesday evening. Reports of delegates to the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States also were presented.

T. E. Orison presented the recommendations of the committee as its chairman and mentioned other projects it desired to work upon, including park matters, dental clinic, milk inspection, the better cities contest and others. The board declared that garbage disposal according to a satisfactory system means more to the health of the city than almost anything else and will lend all its facilities to assist the city council to adopt a feasible solution. The directors also believe the city should buy enough land to join Pierce and Ahlha parks, if it cannot see its way clear to purchase the entire tract available between.

TELL OF SESSIONS
A. C. Remley, national councillor, described his stay in Washington at the annual meeting of the national chamber, and Hugh G. Corbett, secretary, also spoke concerning the sessions there.

Max W. Babb of the Allis-Chalmers Co., Milwaukee, was re-elected to the board of directors. Mr. Remley said. He attended the group luncheon dealing with manufacturing and was interested considerably in what was said the dedication of the 4-story office building of the national chamber, saying it was a beautiful structure overlooking the capital at Washington. The principal speakers at the dedication were William Howard Taft, chief justice of the supreme court, and Hon. Charles Nagel of St. Louis, both of whom were instrumental in having the building erected.

An address by E. T. Meredith, former secretary of agriculture, also interested the two Appleton delegates. He declared that any farmer who was making less than $15 an acre exclusive of taxes and labor was a failure, since tests over a long period show that this must be the minimum figure of income.

DEBATES BUILDER CONGRESS
Mr. Corbett followed up the civic department sessions mostly. One idea that was sprung at a conference was that of establishing a builders' congress in every city. It was an organization made up of master builders and the building crafts. They meet to coordinate their work so that building is scattered over the year and all projects do not start at once. This makes longer employment possible for home labor and is a more satisfactory system. Considerable thought also was given to homebuilding development and city planning.

John N. Willis, automobile manufacturer, was one of the speakers and declared that protective tariffs must not be made so high that other countries do likewise because business then is at a standstill. High prices for commodities were analyzed by Sidney Anderson of Minnesota, who said there are too many distributors through whose hands goods must pass before reaching the consumer, each taking a profit. Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, spoke of the need of reduction of governmental departments for efficiency.
